Sadhu Balwant Singh Grewal

APRIL

WORLD WITHIN WORLDS

Sadhu Balwant Singh Grewal—"SADHU" as he is popularly called—was born December 15, 1899, in PUNJAB, INDIA, of Sikh parents.

As a young lad of 17, he lay near death from TB in his native India. Desiring very much to live, he prayed for health, saying, "God, if I could only get well, I would give my life in Your service to carry the message of Love, Health and Happiness to all mankind". His prayers were answered and soon he was well enough to be sent to the mountains to recuperate. There he came in contact with spiritual teachers and herb doctors. He sat at their feet listening and learning. He was given the name of "SADHU" by his teacher. The word "Sadhu" is derived from a Sanskrit word "SADHANA", which means "Meditation". One who practices and teaches Meditation is called "Sadhu".

In 1919 he became a follower of Mahatma Gandhi in his "Satyagraha" movement and finally left India on the 4th of July, 1921, for the U.S.A. to attend college. He received his B. Sc. degree from the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1927, and his M.S.E. degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, in September, 1931. He retired on December 31, 1964 from the Ford Motor Company, as an engineer, after 22½ years' service.

For the past 45 years he has lectured throughout the U.S.A. on Philosophy and Comparative Religion. His "hobby" is the study of occult Philosophy, Mysticism, and eight great religions of the world.

Sadhu is a teacher, author, lecturer and world traveler, and is the founder and director of the Temple of Divine Philosophy, Inc. in the states of Michigan and Florida.
